Students and teachers might be compared to musicians playing the huge symphony of our school, throbbing and pulsing with human drama. Interwoven themes of despair, triumph, sorrow, and joy blend into a mighty swelling crescendo of music.

Thank you, Mr. Jacobson

We appreciate your response to our request for an alma mater song for Hobart High School.

Last June at the first staff meeting, we discussed a possible theme for the 1954 Memories. Because we felt that Hobart had long been in need of a hymn to be sung on serious occasions, the staff decided to ask you to write the song.

We sincerely hope that this song will become one of the cherished traditions of Hobart High School.

Hail, Alma Mater

Hail, all hail, Hobart High School

We students true,

Pledge thee our love

And give support to you.

In loss or victory,

We sing your praises high.

Our Alma Mater, dear Hobart High.

Jim Mair, one of the fortunate seniors who started the Senior Day tradition, replaced teaching principal Joseph Phillips from West Hobart Elementary School.

Adoring students abandoned their play to crowd around their student teachers—Marlene Howell, Jackie Ahlgrim, and Jim Johnston—at recess time.

. . . seniors take over entire school

These seniors had a view of many of the problems that face the school board. As members of the board they had the opportunity to discuss current issues and to meet with students who presented problems that are common around school. The capable seniors who are shown here with Mr. Garver are Ralph Kerwin, Doug Williams, Dave Epperson, Dave Bood, Loretta Massa, and Jasper Hopkins.

"I wonder how those poor teachers do it," remarked Gene Clemens as he collapsed in his chair after a busy day of acting as high school principal.

In his experience as a grade school principal Jim Mackey found it necessary to use a bit of discipline. The moral of his little lecture to a problem child could well be "Be a good boy or you'll grow up to be like me."

system . . . another new tradition . . .

April Fool's Day was no joke to this hard working senior who took over a sixth grade at Liberty. Ted Milenkoff followed faithfully the schedule listed on the board. For one entire day the seniors were supreme in the Hobart educational system.

"Come on, Gene, let's go!" With crepe paper flying, horns honking and students yelling, excitement really filled the air on the big campaign day. It was really a sight to behold — two parades, in one day. A convertible with the Purple Ticket candidates, Minnie French and Gene Clemens led the gala affair. As everyone knows by now, the Purple Ticket was the victor in the election.

All set to start their parade are Eleanor Zurich and Curt Nelson, candidates on the Gold Ticket. Led by a police escort, the parade formed in front of the school and went down Main Street and other parts of town where students stood in groups to watch and cheer their favorites. By the time everyone was ready to go to the polls, they had seen their share of campaigning.

... it's september - - campaign time ...

Congratulations and handshakes were in order for the new mayor, Gene Clemens, and clerk treasurer, Minnie Sue French, as they took office in September. Mr. Moody, and the losing candidates, Curt Nelson and Eleanor Zurich, were the first to offer their best wishes. Our 1953-1954 mayor has been an enthusiastic leader in guiding the student body through a successful school year. He has been the spark plug behind the school drives and accomplishments, with the aid of an equally enthusiastic council, cheer leaders, and the student body as a whole.

Displaying some of the tools that are so helpful to shop boys, Mr. Thomas Farlow, freshman shop teacher, explains the use of one of the tools to a parent visiting the shop. Modern equipment plays a very important part in shop safety and a help in the building of fine furnishings.

Many offers were received by June Miller from teachers for her first oil painting which she did in art class. Miss Gentry points out some of the outstanding features of June's work to Mrs. Miller, her proud mother. The paintings were displayed on Back To School Night along with other works of art.

... back to school night ...

Mrs. Eleanor Deal, junior high school social studies teacher, proudly displays the work of her students. The scene depicts an early western frontier settlement. In the background are character dolls dressed in costumes of early American history.

A beautiful flowered crown for the Queen was received by Georgia May Eagle. The evening's program began with the queen and her court being driven onto the football field in a convertible. It didn't seem to take long for the first half to end because it was such a close game. The half time program was begun by the band marching. Then the three chosen members of the H-Men's club escorted Queen Georgia Eagle, with Betty Moody, and Loretta Massa, her attendants, to the center of the field. There Phil Millus crowned Georgia Homecoming Queen.

... homecoming - the game -

The climax of the Homecoming dance was the Grand March led by the queen, her court and their escorts. As the Queen and her court descended the stairway onto the dance floor, a fanfare was played by Lorenz Kenney's band. Queen Georgia then ascended to the throne to pose for newspaper photographers.

After pictures were taken Georgia with Dick Netzhammer, her escort, led off the next dance. The Homecoming dance was a big success with both students and graduates of Hobart High School attending.

These spirited sophomores added $5.00 to their class treasury by devising this clever fate for the Bulldogs. This was a bit better than last year's tie for "booby." Paint brushes flew until the last minute, and when the winners were announced, it was ## the dance - those crazy displays . . .

The class of '55 marred its past record of two firsts by having second best display this year. This group of juniors helped Yohan make a fool of the Crown Point mascot. That night the Brickies followed through with a victory. Kneeling: Mary Jane Kurth, Gayle Huminsky, Don Shinneman. Standing: Colleen Dotson, Beverly Mehalic, Barbara Klindt, Shirlee Caldwell, Yohan, and Dick Netzhammer.

The sophomore class party was one of the most colorful and hilarious affairs of the year. Masqueraders represented animals and people of all types. Captain Kidd danced with a white rabbit, and even Gorgeous George was there to add to the excitement. Costumes were judged for prizes, and dancing, refreshments, and games made the "Mardi Gras" a complete success.

"I knew Lincoln" was the theme of the convo presented by Kirk Bennett on February 18. Mr. Bennett portrayed Billy Brown, who ran the store where Abraham Lincoln and his friends gathered to tell stories and argue around the stove.

What masquerade would be complete without flapper girls? Rosalind Boughamer, Jo Ann Cicillian, and LaVonne Spense modeled this rakish garb of the roaring twenties.

Mr. Harold Moody, principal, had the honor of presenting the charter of Hobart high school's newly organized Britannican chapter of the Future Teachers of America to Janet McMurtry, president.

Corsages and lighted candles added color and atmosphere to the ceremony. There were both smiles and serious thoughts as the first members of the Britannican chapter of Future Teachers of America signed their names to the charter.

"And a good time was had by all!" This was the exclamation of those juniors who attended their class party in March. The decorations — crepe paper, sparkling stars, and a huge moon — carried out the theme of "Blue Moon." The juniors attending enjoyed dancing to the orchestra of Lorenz Kenney. Entertainment for the evening was provided by Janet Severence, electric guitar and Barbara Klindt, who gave a monologue, both girls, members of the class. Refreshments were served from an attractive table decorated in the class colors.

The expression on the faces of these students can mean only one thing—Victory! And victory it was, not only for the basketball team, but for the Brickie Boosters as well. The crowd of students shown here are only a part of the many fans who filled the Hobart section at tourney time.

The enthusiastic followers cheered the Brickies into the final game of the Cary sectional. The loyalty of the fans was especially displayed during the game against the hard playing Panthers of Roosevelt. Brickie fans refused to let their plucky team down, as the Brickies themselves refused to allow the Panthers to win without a hard fought battle to the end.

This bright sign in the study hall attracted a great deal of attention a week before the sectionals. It was one of the many projects undertaken by the student council to arouse enthusiasm for the sectional tourney.

On the day of the sectionals the Hobart caravan with twelve cars bulging at the seams, set out for Memorial Auditorium, horns blowing, students yelling, and banners waving.

Participants in the Yohan's Revue, an all school talent show were Betty Moody, pianist; Phyllis Gibson and Jeannine Brown, vocal duet; Joyce Anderson, pianist; Sally LePell, pantomimist; Mary Cortese, pianist; Sandra Allison, pianist; and Gwen Neitzel, assistant to the master of ceremonies, seated. Frank Kaplon, soloist; Lewis Hill and Ray Daves, duet; Cecil Neyhart, guitarist and singer; Barbara Cisman, accordionist; Jim Mackey, master of ceremonies; Bill Gravel, Frank Ross, Ronnie Steinbrenner, David Henley, the Caravan Quartet, standing. Winners were Betty Moody, first prize; Lewis Hill and Ray Daves, second prize; and Cecil Neyhart, third prize.

"Blue Hawaii" was the theme of the Semi-Formal, one of the biggest occasions of the year. Through the combined efforts of Debutene and G.A.A. club members, the gym was transformed into a tropical paradise with colorful flowers, palm trees, and glittering stars. Happy couples danced to soft music or sat at candle lighted tables and commented on the loveliness of the affair.

Hail, all hail, Hobart High School

The director, the concert master, and all the section leaders help us to interpret our music — not only to play correctly but also to interpret the spirit, feeling, and thought of the Master Composer. They assist those with less experience, passing on their own knowledge, thus helping to create a stirring, thrilling symphony, which may inspire us in composing our own great music.

. . . we students true . . .

Our symphony is comprised of four movements — the four years we spend in high school — introduced by a prelude in two parts spent in junior high.

The melody is the closely woven spirit of Hobart High School, possible because of the close class, sports, and activities association between students and teachers. From this association—an easy, informal, co-operative friendliness — is molded a valuable part of our character.

"I like this one," says Beverly Ramsay, senior class secretary as President Doug Williams; Treasurer Sheila Reese; and Vice-president David Bood join her to look over the samples of caps and gowns to be chosen by the senior class.

These are seniors? !!! These strange-looking creatures roamed the halls every Senior Hobo Day. On these days many weird and outlandish costumes appeared. Here a group gathers in a merry crowd on the stairway of the senior locker room.

Measurements for caps and gowns were taken one day in the government and economics classes. The "long and short" of the picture — only two of the different types of seniors — are Ronald Dunkelbarger and Joyce Muir.

A familiar sight in senior homeroom is President Doug Williams pounding his gavel to bring the 162 seniors in 313 to order. Making plans for the senior trip, ordering announcements, selecting caps and gowns, and voting for the Senior Photographer were a few of the round of activities he had to keep going.

Glittering tinsel, colorful ornaments, and bright lights adorn the traditional Christmas tree in the senior high study hall. Carol Stolp, Janet McMurtry, and Loretta Massa work after school to bring the Yuletide spirit and cheer to Hobart High School.

Part of the Senior Day Administrative Staff that took over the work of the school for the day.

. . . give support to you . . .

Like full rests in a symphony, so are varied activities the rhythmic refreshers in high school. Notes cannot be cast haphazardly upon paper by a composer. There must be an established pattern and rhythm. Students cannot study day after day with no recreation to relieve an otherwise monotonous routine. Realizing this, Hobart High School furnishes an extensive program of extra-curricular activities.

HILMER JACOBSON
Director

The a capella choir this year gained additional prestige with their splendid performance of selections from Handel's "Messiah."

Much hard work and many extra practices were needed to put on this most difficult of all oratorios. It was necessary to hire outside soloists who did a splendid job. The guest soloists were Miss Charlotte Domroese, contralto; Mrs. Kenneth Bullock, soprano; Mr. Ralph Corrie, tenor; and Mr. Richard Lewke, bass.

Never before has Hobart's a capella choir been able to accomplish such a great undertaking. Each year Mr. Jacobson has added depth and quality which has resulted in a choir that has won fame and of which we can be justly proud.

The a capella choir presented the students with a wonderful Christmas gift by singing our new Alma Mater hymn at the Christmas convocation. This is the first year Hobart has ever had an Alma Mater song.

The traditional Vesper concert was held with the band and a capella choir playing and singing Christmas favorites.

The spring agenda fulfilled all expectations as the choir gave their spring concert on April 22. Several of their selections were "Rain and the River," "Adoramus Te," "Lamb of God," and "Roll Chariot Roll."

The choir had a busy year as they sang for the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter convocations and prepared for their appearance at the State Choral Contest.

The day before Christmas vacation started the students of Hobart High School received a very surprising Christmas present. A few of the members of the A Capella choir walked through all of the halls of the school singing Christmas carols. The carols they sang were "Silent Night," "Deck the Halls" and "Adeste Fidelis."

ROBERT WEBB
Assistant Director

The 1953-'54 baton of the Hobart Concert Band was taken over by Mr. Albert Leach, director, who attended the University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin, and Michigan State College. The position of assistant director was filled by Mr. Robert Webb. Mr. Webb attended the University of Illinois and Indiana State Teachers' College.

The annual "Pop" concert started the season on a busy program of concerts. "Beautiful Galatea" was the outstanding feature of the "Pop" concert.

"The Christmas Suite," a selection of traditional Christmas carols, was the feature at the annual Christmas Concert.

Celebrating the 29th annual Anniversary of the Concert Band, they played several selections including "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart, "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert and "The Rifle Regiment March" by Sousa. Mr. Milan Yancich, guest soloist, played "Morceau de Concert" by Saint Saens. Mr. Emmett Sarig, guest conductor from the University of Wisconsin conducted a suite "Old American Dances" by Bennett.

The concert season ended with the annual Spring Concert on May 11.

The band participated in the Northern Indiana High School Band, Orchestra, and Vocal, Solo, and Ensemble Contest held at Morton High School in Hammond. The eight band members who received firsts and the seven who placed second were able to go down state to Butler University in Indianapolis to take part in the all-state contest.

Denver was the destination of the band which began this year's tour on April 25 and continued until May 3. Concerts were played at many other points of interest and highlighted such pieces as "Marriage of Figaro", "Suite of American Dances", and "The Shawl Dance."

Formed in 1945, the Marching Band has provided many splendid half time programs in formations, designs and in arrangement of music. This year the Marching Band featured "Fall Dance Recital," "Trip to Europe," "Salute to Sports," "Winter Wonderland," and "Boy Meets Girl." Performing with the Indiana University Marching 100 was one of the outstanding events of the marching season. Hobart's marching band along with 4054 other high school band students took part in Indiana University's annual High School Day program presented during the half time and again at the end of the Indiana University-Marquette College football game.

... the marching seventy ...

Strutting high, dressed all in white and gold, Tom Hartin, drum major, led the Marching Band in its half time programs and other appearances.

Dum, de dum, dum — the Dragnet theme with formations was one of the most modern and striking themes the Marching Band has presented before football fans. The beat of drums and the toots of horns could be heard from early morning until long after school as band members tramped up and down the field to perfect their half time programs.

... our student government ...

"Give to the Community Building Fund." Raising money for the community building was one of the main objectives of the student council this year. While the students knew it was impossible for them to finance the entire building, their contributions went a long way toward buying new modern scoreboards and showed their desire for the new building.

In an effort to awaken the people of the town to the need for a new gymnasium, the Student Council headed many projects this year. Posters showing the inadequate facilities of the shower and locker rooms and the crowded condition of the gym, were displayed in downtown store windows. Then containers were placed in the classrooms, and a barrel in the locker room to prompt students to contribute to the building fund, thus showing the townspeople how enthusiastically the students are backing this project. At sectional time, the Student Council, together with the cheerleaders, made arrangements with the Hobart and Gary police for a car caravan to journey to Memorial auditorium. Led by Yohan, the Spirit of Hobart high, in the person of Russell Elisha, the enthusiastic Brickie fans soon filled the cheering section and backed their team right down to the last second of the finals.

Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service paid off as 23 thrilled and excited seniors were inducted into the National Honor society during an impressive ceremony on November 4, 1953. Members are chosen on scholastic standing, activity points, and teachers' recommendations.

. . . national honor society

The giving up of a few noon hours and the wearing down of much pencil lead produced these happy faces of the home room who had the highest scholastic average for a six weeks' period. Averaging the grades for each home room at the end of each six weeks is one of the projects that the National Honor Society has established. A spaghetti supper honoring students who maintained a 2.5 average for the first semester was sponsored by the Honor Society.

. . . future teachers of america . . .

Greeting the parents on Back to School night was one of the projects that the Britannican chapter of Future Teachers of America undertook this year. The purpose of the F.T.A. is to give helpful advice to students who are planning to teach.

Smiling faces are one of the many pleasant rewards an F.T.A. member receives while substituting for school teachers. Grading tests and assignment papers is another duty of the club members. F.T.A. members attended the teachers' workshop where they participated in interesting discussion groups. Most of them attended the discussion on "How much homework should be assigned to students."

Checking out books is one of the many appreciated services rendered to the students by members of the Librarians' club. This and other services help them to accumulate credits for letters and chevrons, awarded at the end of the year. In addition to work there's time out for social functions such as the annual Christmas party and the candle-light initiation service.

... librarians' club ...

Placing book jackets on the bulletin board is only one of the many duties of the Librarians. Dusting books and shelves, checking out textbooks and workbooks, and keeping track of "mislaidd" books are a few of the other chores these girls perform.

... audio - visual club ...

It does get a little monotonous at times. A member of the Audio-Visual Club is threading the projector. After setting everything up, he can sit back, relax, and enjoy a movie. The most unpleasant job of the Audio-Visual boys is carrying the equipment to classes, but all in all the boys must enjoy showing movies because they continue to be in the club year after year.

Students of Hobart high are always glad to see a member of the Audio-Visual club arrive because that means no reading out of books. Members of the club show movies in various classes. Two boys here are learning how to splice film. This knowledge really comes in handy when a film breaks in the middle of a movie.

The proud look on the faces of these girls symbolizes team play, fair play, and sportsmanship, the three main objectives of the G.A.A. This club affords girls the opportunity to participate in such athletic events as volleyball, deck tennis, and basketball. By taking part in these activities, they learn and practice team play, fair play, and sportsmanship. The girls shown here are Eleanor Reisinger, treasurer; Carol Whittaker, secretary; Judy Killens, president; Jane Webber, vice president; Nancy Bessigano, secretary; and Minnie Sue French, treasurer.

A formal initiation, complete with membership ribbons and candlelight, welcomed new members into the G.A.A. club. This club has performed such services for the school as a hake sale and an after-the-game dance, with the proceeds going toward the new Community Building. For social activities, the club collaborated with the Debuteen groups for a most successful Semi-formal.

. . . ushers' club . . .

Bright eyes and smiling faces greeted you if you attended any school function this year. The Ushers' club was formed for the first time last year. A Yohan holding the name Ushers' Club is the emblem for the club.

Relaxing between convos! It's really deserved because getting 1000 students in and out of that tiny gym for two convos is not an easy task. Besides ushering for convos, they also worked at concerts and all of the football games and basketball games.

Debate club has really traveled around this year. They went to Purdue for the convention, to Merrillville to give a demonstration and to Lew Wallace. They also gave a debate for the Hobart Woman's club. At club meetings, members polish up their debating techniques and learn the more intricate ways of winning a debate.

... debate club ...

Resolved, That the American people should elect the President by a direct vote was the question. The answer is your own opinion. Members of the Debate club gave their views on this topic at all debate contests they entered. The Debate club had a wonderful record this year and it really took a lot of hard work, long hours of practice and research.

... home economics club ...

The Home Economics club, newly organized this year, provides a time and place for girls to work on hobbies or make new things for their wardrobes, as these two members are doing. Girls with interest in creative work find this a challenge. Hearing and seeing others' view points and suggestions create enthusiasm among members.

Boy! Someone must have really worked to knit this sweater! The Home Economics club has proved very profitable to its members. They not only learn how to knit but also how to sew and crochet. They have lessons in handicraft too.

Members of the Chemistry club are experimenting with the distillation of water. The Chemistry club entered projects in the Science Fair. One project is the formation of sulphur or copper sulphate crystals, which are very beautiful. Not all experiments are beautiful; for instance, the making of hydrogen sulfide (or the smell of rotten eggs to you) is anything but beautiful.

Who knows—one of these students may be another Clint Youle! Physics club and classes may be the beginning of a weatherman's career. Each member of the Physics club made a project for the Science Fair. One of the projects that was made was a ham radio set. The Physics club also studies mechanics of air and liquids and electronics.

... science clubs ...

These members of the Photography club are setting up a shot of a still life picture. This type of picture is very hard to photograph because they have to show depth. Hats off to the members of the Photography club for taking most of the pictures in the yearbook. "Memories" would be impossible without you.

Eeek, a mouse! It doesn't seem to bother this girl, or maybe she's scared to death. It has been said that this mouse was loose in school one day; so if you have no love for little animals stay away from 204. The members of the Biology club not only study animal life but plant life as well.

Io Saturnalia! Don't be alarmed! This isn't Rome. It's only the Latin club members wishing each other a Merry Christmas in true Roman style. Members lent themselves to the occasion by wearing togas and bringing Christmas greetings written in Latin.

Latin Club members—Charles Trinkler, Kathy Kralik, Donna Brown, Donna Skees, Richard Berg, and Jack Walker—observe as Betty Vaughn points out the capital of the Roman Empire whose language and customs they study.

. . . foreign language clubs . . .

What's this a new spring hat and fancy stole? No, it is just a member of the Spanish club trying on her idea of a costume a native of Mexico might wear. Besides learning the Spanish way of dressing, members learn their language and their way of life.

"... and there's Spain." A member of Spanish club is pointing out on a map of Europe the country of the language which they study. In Spanish club members learn Spanish songs and dances. The club meetings are held at members' homes where they play games, hold the business meeting and have refreshments.

... booster

"Measure that paper straight!" "Wrap those streamers evenly!" "Be careful of your fingers!" This is much of the conversation that went on when the members of the Booster Club got together to make pom-poms for one of the basketball games. This club gives much of its support to the athletic teams and projects of the student body.

club ...

"Win this game! On to fame!" was heard at many a ball game. The Booster club's purpose is to promote team and school spirit. They did several things throughout the year to promote enthusiasm, spirit, and good sportsmanship. One of the highlights of the football season was at the Gary Edison vs. Hobart game when just before the team came onto the field, a huge paper doorway was dropped from the goal post. The cheerleaders lead the team, crashing through the doorway, as team boosters madly waved their pom-poms and cheered their entrance.

... girls'

The poster "Give to the Heart Fund" displays just one of the charity projects that the Debuteen, Jinx, and the Sub-Deb clubs sponsor. The clubs sponsored several other charity drives such as the Red Cross, Clothing and Polio collections, explained the need of clothing drives, and gave information about polio.

One of the heart warming experiences was a letter from a child in Europe telling how much people appreciated the clothing the United States sends. The clubs also gave helpful information about symptoms of polio.

service

"Boost the Brickies and buy Brickie pins." The Jinx, Dehuteen, and Sub-Deb club members sold pins at all home basketball games to promote school spirit. The pins are made out of purple and gold felt with a wooden basketball in the center. Representatives of the clubs attended the Girls' conference at East Gary in the spring. The Girls' conference is composed of girl representatives from every school in Lake County.

Besides aiding in services for the benefit of their school and community, the Debuteens, Jinx, and Sub-Debs are also social clubs. The tremendous success of the annual Semi-formal, this year christened "Blue Hawaii," was the peak of their social activities. Other social events were a skating party, each girl bringing a guest, and a pot-luck, with just members enjoying the array of tempting dishes. The fine fellowship experienced during their social occasions will long be remembered as high points of their club activities.

There is a swiftness, a brisk, staccato tempo connected with sports that may be associated with no other activity in high school. Just as a coloratura soprano attempts to reach high C, thus does an athletic team strive for the summit — victory lies there. Victory, however, is not all that is to be attained. Seldom is there the feeling that one team has bested another for glory's sake alone. Each individual may experience a spirit of sportsmanship and teamwork, a sense of accomplishment, and one of the deepest feelings of satisfaction that the material world offers.

... calumet conference champs

Copping the Calumet conference grid title for the third straight year and battling their way to a state ranking of thirteenth made up the highlights of the Brickie football season. The mighty Deal-men all but ran wild as they finished the season with an 8-2 record.

In their opening game of the season Brickies played host to the Oilers of Whiting here. The mighty Oiler team was held scoreless in the first half, but pushed across the only score of the evening in the last period as rain-soaked on-lookers saw the Brickies downed 6-0.

After their opening defeat Brickie gridders took to the road and avenged all with a bounding 26-0 victory over the hapless Eagles of East Gary. From here the Deal-men returned to home premises and presented the Hobart on-lookers with another 26-0 victory, only this time over the Lowell Red Devils.

The next week saw the valiant Vikings of Valpo traversing Brickie bowl, seeking to avenge the 33-0 defeat handed to them by the Brickies the year before. A bruising battle proceeded as the Vikings eked out a meager 14-13 win after Brickie backers saw a last minute, would-be-winning touchdown called back.

Traveling to Griffith, the Brickie grid machine ground out a gruelling 19-12 win over the Panthers for another conference triumph. Coming back to Brickie bowl, the gridders presented a 6-0 victory over independent Crown Point to Homecoming Queen, Georgia Mae Eagle. From here the now steaming Brickies plowed into the disheartened Pirates of Merrillville to the tune of a 31-0 score.

The Brickies, now possessing a perfect conference record, went into their next contest against the Blazers of Gary Edison, their closest competitor. Keyed up for the contest, the Brickies proceeded to tear up all hopes of the Edisonites, whipping them solidly 19-0.

Playing their last game of the '53 season, the Brickie crew out-fought the Panthers of Gary Roosevelt, 27-19.

In post season honors the Hobart gridders were well represented on the all-conference team by placing four men on it — halfbacks Bill Gravel and Woody Stafford and guards Curt Nelson and Don Anderson.

The purple and gold was represented on the second team also with end Mick Matsey and tackle Jack Mathis.

In collaboration with Hobart's state ranking of thirteenth, junior Bill Gravel received an all-state honorable mention at the halfback slot.

Brickies earning positions on the conference honorable mention spot were Gene Clemens and Tom Kurth, ends; Ted Milenkoff and Ralph Sanders, tackles; Russell Garriott, guard; Dick Frame and Jim Mackey, centers; Jim Johnston and Dale Schavey in the backfield.

Up in the air for this one! Brickie pass receivers Bill Gravel (64) and Mick Matsey (33) display their aerial ballet techniques as they bring down one of the many Brickie passes.

To gain against the Brickies is not an easy task, as this unheralded Edisonite found out. Brickie tacklers Mick Matsey (33), Woody Stafford (65), and Gene Clemens (43), combine their efforts to bring down their man.

"Crazy Legs" Jim Johnston (56) goes after another bouncing fumble as Tom Kurth (34) and a desperate looking opponent look on.

With the power of a steamroller, Brickie back Bill Gravel (64) smashes through the line as four determined opponents drag him down. Looking on are teammates Bob Manwaring (40), Don Shinneman (72), Curt Nelson (66), Jack Mathis (83), and Boh Ferguson (80).
